The University of Florida Department of Urology

Seeking APPs to join the UFHealth Urology Department!

The Department of Urology at the University of Florida is seeking qualified applicants for a full-time Advanced Practice Provider (PA/ARNP). Under the supervision of the adult urology physicians and with dedicated support from our skilled nursing staff and 12 APPs, the candidate will serve as an integral member of the care team. The position offers the candidate the opportunity to have a mixture of clinic, inpatient consults and First Assist role on robotic cases. The APP will participate in the evaluation of patient care for urology patients, including: obtaining a history and performing a physical exam, ordering labs and imaging studies, interpreting labs and imaging studies, formulating assessments and care plans, facilitating and coordinating therapeutic and diagnostic tests and procedures, performing and/or assisting in diagnostic tests and procedures. Given the high level of autonomy provided in this position, applicants will undergo extensive orientation and education.

As part of the UF Health-Shands Hospital, a renowned quaternary healthcare network, the candidate will play a pivotal role in our mission to provide cutting edge care. The chosen applicant will also have an opportunity to work with UF Urology fellows, residents, and medical students in the premier academic urology training program in the state of Florida. Situated in the heart of North Central Florida, Gainesville offers an enriching environment with its year-round favorable weather, vibrant cultural scene, abundant outdoors activities and diverse arts and dining experiences.
